Worksheet 2: What Is the Character Feeling?

QUICK NOTES

A character's feelings are the emotions they experience in a story. Authors do not always tell readers exactly how a character feels. Instead, they provide clues through:

- Actions: What the character does.
- Dialogue: What the character says.
- Reactions: How the character responds to an event.

Remember: Read the clues carefully before deciding how the character feels.

PART A: READ AND CHOOSE

Read each situation and circle the emotion that best describes the character.
